WE HAVE A NAME!!!!!!!

A name for our group has been tentatively established. It is the Lower Columbia Preservation Society.

UPDATE ON LAST MEETING

The meeting was well attended and lively. John Goodenberger's slide presentation of old buildings was a lot of fun. The object was to guess which building it is today. Many of those who have lived here all their lives were stumped by what buildings they are now. Sadly enough, so much of the beautiful architecture has either been destroyed or covered up.

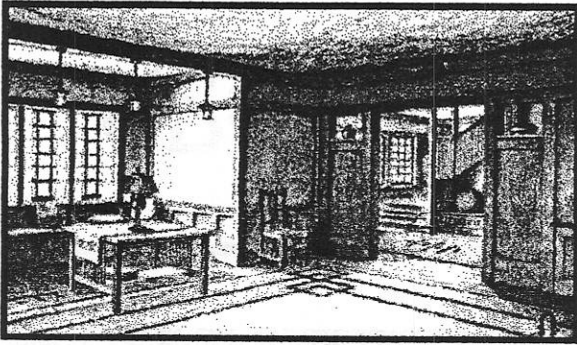

The question and answer session was productive. Those who had questions, seemed to resolve their problems. Please be thinking of any questions you may have, and bring them to the next meeting. If they can't be answered on the spot, someone will be sure to get back to you with the answer.

The proposed Safeway building was briefly touched upon. It was mentioned that those of you wishing to express your ideas should stop in at the library. They have a suggestion/comment box in the entryway where you may leave your opinions.

One of the members had a great tip in finding out about your old home. He suggested once again using the library and asking to see the "Sanborn Maps". There you can find old lot surveys showing your home. Thank you for that tip!

It was also enjoyable to see the individual pictures that a lot of the homeowners brought of their own homes. They should be commended not only for their hard work on these projects, but also the research they put in to them.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

A workshop featuring wood floor refinishing will be presented by Paul Caruana. The event will be held at the Flavel House, 441 8th Street, Astoria, on November 7th (Sat.), at 3:00 p.m.

MEMBERSHIP

Even before we had selected our name or had made a decision about dues, we received our first check for membership! How fitting that he is none other than "Mr. Preservation" himself, Bruce Berney! You are our hero, our first member, Bruce. So far we have 11 members, and now we're patiently waiting to hear from the rest of you. If you want this organization to go, it's time NOW to make your check out to "Lower Columbia Preservation Society". The City of Astoria is helping us temporarily until we can stand on our own, but when the time comes, we'll need your dues to mail out the newsletters, send press releases, etc. So please, take a minute to mail us your membership dues. Even if you can't be involved but would like to see us make a go of this organization, your membership is welcomed and needed!
